Why does Resurrection Lutheran use this photo release form?

At Resurrection Lutheran Church, we are committed to protecting the privacy of our congregation members.

Photographs, addresses, phone numbers and other forms of personal information about our members is limited to internal publications that we distribute among other verified members. Examples of these internal publications include the church newsletter, the member photo album and directory, and various council and committee contact lists.

However, Resurrection Lutheran also publishes information to the general public on its web site and a few unique documents used to recruit new members and promote our causes. For these kinds of publication, we follow a firm set of guidelines to limit the personal information about any people included as subjects:

- Resurrection Lutheran does not display any identifiable photographs of people on our web site or in any of our publications distributed to the general public unless a release form has been signed by the person(s) appearing in the photograph.
- Photographs of children are not published unless a similar release has been signed by a parent or legal guardian.
- For staff members, we may list names, email and office phone numbers because it is important that people be able to contact the staff through normal office channels.
- For adult members, we often list names of people who have been designated as contacts for groups or activities at church. We do not list their email addresses or phone numbers unless they have specifically given permission (or asked us).
- For non-adult members, we may list first names only, but no email addresses or phone numbers.
